

Northern University's postgraduate education on the international platform (Visiting Graz)

The Northern University is actively participating in the process of postgraduate educational reforms. Being the only private university included in the TEMPUS-VERITAS program in the postgraduate education on the international platform, the University is enthusiastic in the active participation in the postgraduate education reforms. A vivid example is the professors' Armen Tshughuryan and Margarita Poghosyan introduction presentation in Service University, Graz. The presentation was referred to the launched process of postgraduate education in the Northern University as well as to suggestions within postgraduate education reforms.

The international experts approved the University's delegates' presented analysis, referred to the process of postgraduate education reforms according to the Salzburg principals, "science-HEI-labor market" cooperation chain, challenges of scientific innovations' marketing and financing assurance of postgraduate management.

Taking into consideration the active participation of the University in the postgraduate education reforms, by the demands of the TEMPUS-VERITAS project provisions in the spring of 2015 a pilot project of the postgraduate education will be launched and which will be organized according to the international standards.

